

Critical Questions for Pragmatic Clinical Trialists: Insights From the NIH Pragmatic Trials Collaboratory's First Decade

A VIRTUAL WORKSHOP

Join us for a workshop over 2 half-days to explore questions critical to designing and implementing pragmatic clinical trials conducted within health care systems. The NIH Pragmatic Trials Collaboratory has now been supporting pragmatic trials for a decade, including a set of trials in the PRISM program of the NIH HEAL Initiative. This workshop is an opportunity to glean the most salient lessons learned from an experienced group of pragmatic trial investigators who will openly share the challenges they have encountered, solutions they have developed, and thoughts for the future.
